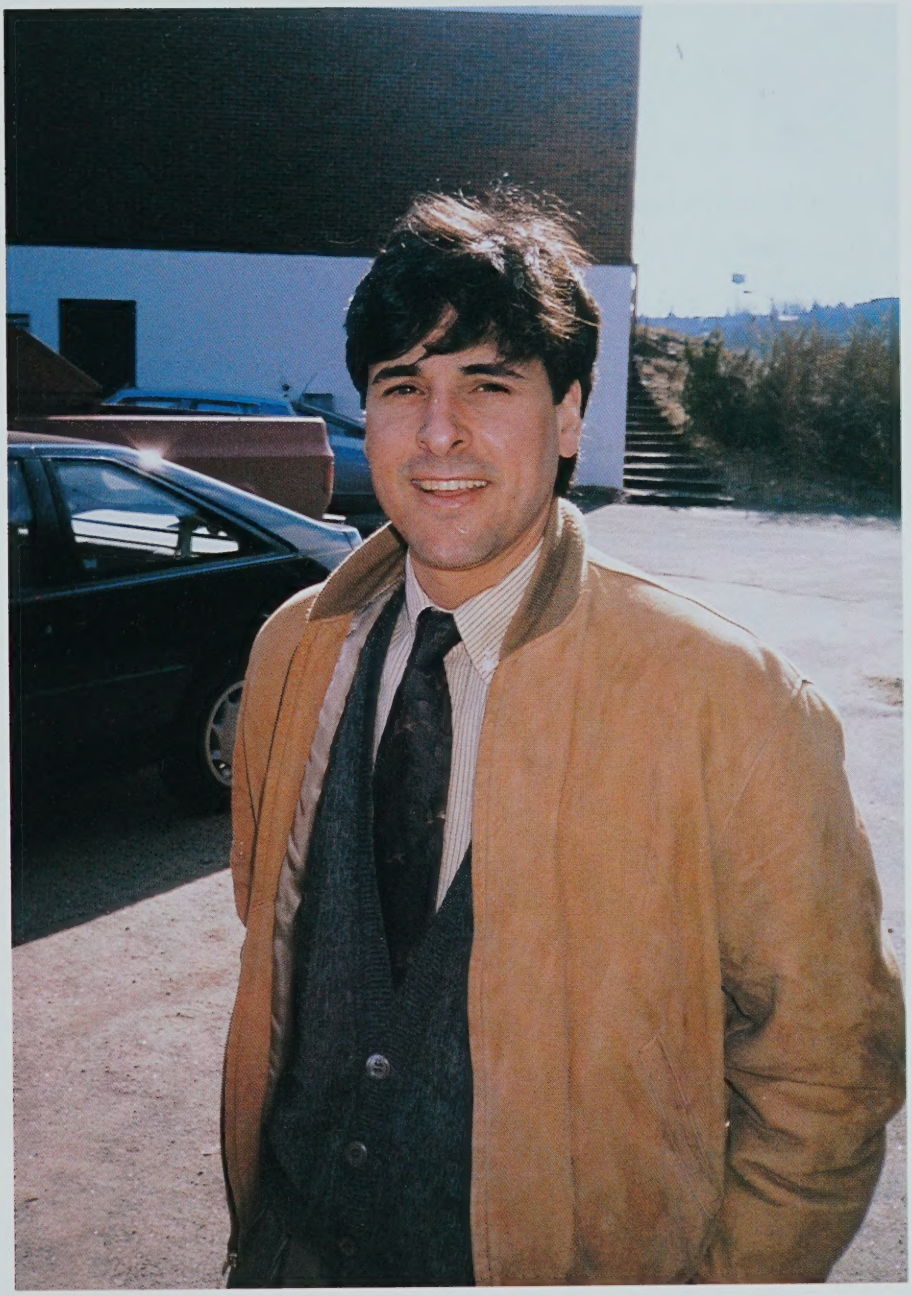
DEDICATION



James Ugone

The class of 1990 proudly dedicates our yearbook to Mr. James Ugone. Jim Ugone was a Natural Resources teacher here for eight years. He had wisdom and knowledge of his subject, as well as a great sense of humor and a true sense of caring for his students. When he left, he took a great part of Essex Aggie with him. He left us with the feeling that anything was within our grasp. We thank you, and wish you well.

THE CLASS OF 1990

ADVISORS

Jim Willis and Scott Hatch

We, the class of 1990, would like to extend our thanks to Mr. Hatch and Mr. Willis. It was a tough job to undertake, but they took the challenge anyway! For that we are truly grateful and we appreciate your efforts.

Don't Tell Me What
Kind of Day to Have!

TIME CAPSULE

In a time of peacefulness to come, when all detentions have been served, all tests have been taken, all SOEP has been completed, all Mr. Banos' videos have been seen — in that time of tranquility, our distant descendants will discover what we really were.

This will all come about when the Natural Resources class of 2090, while digging another vege garden under the direction of Mr. Emerson IV, will unearth our Time Capsule, planted in the wilderness beyond the orchard on April 11, 1990.

This spot will be easy to find from any city, town or street in Essex County. All signs will be provided by Nick Bruno, Ray Liberge, and Trevor Venza.

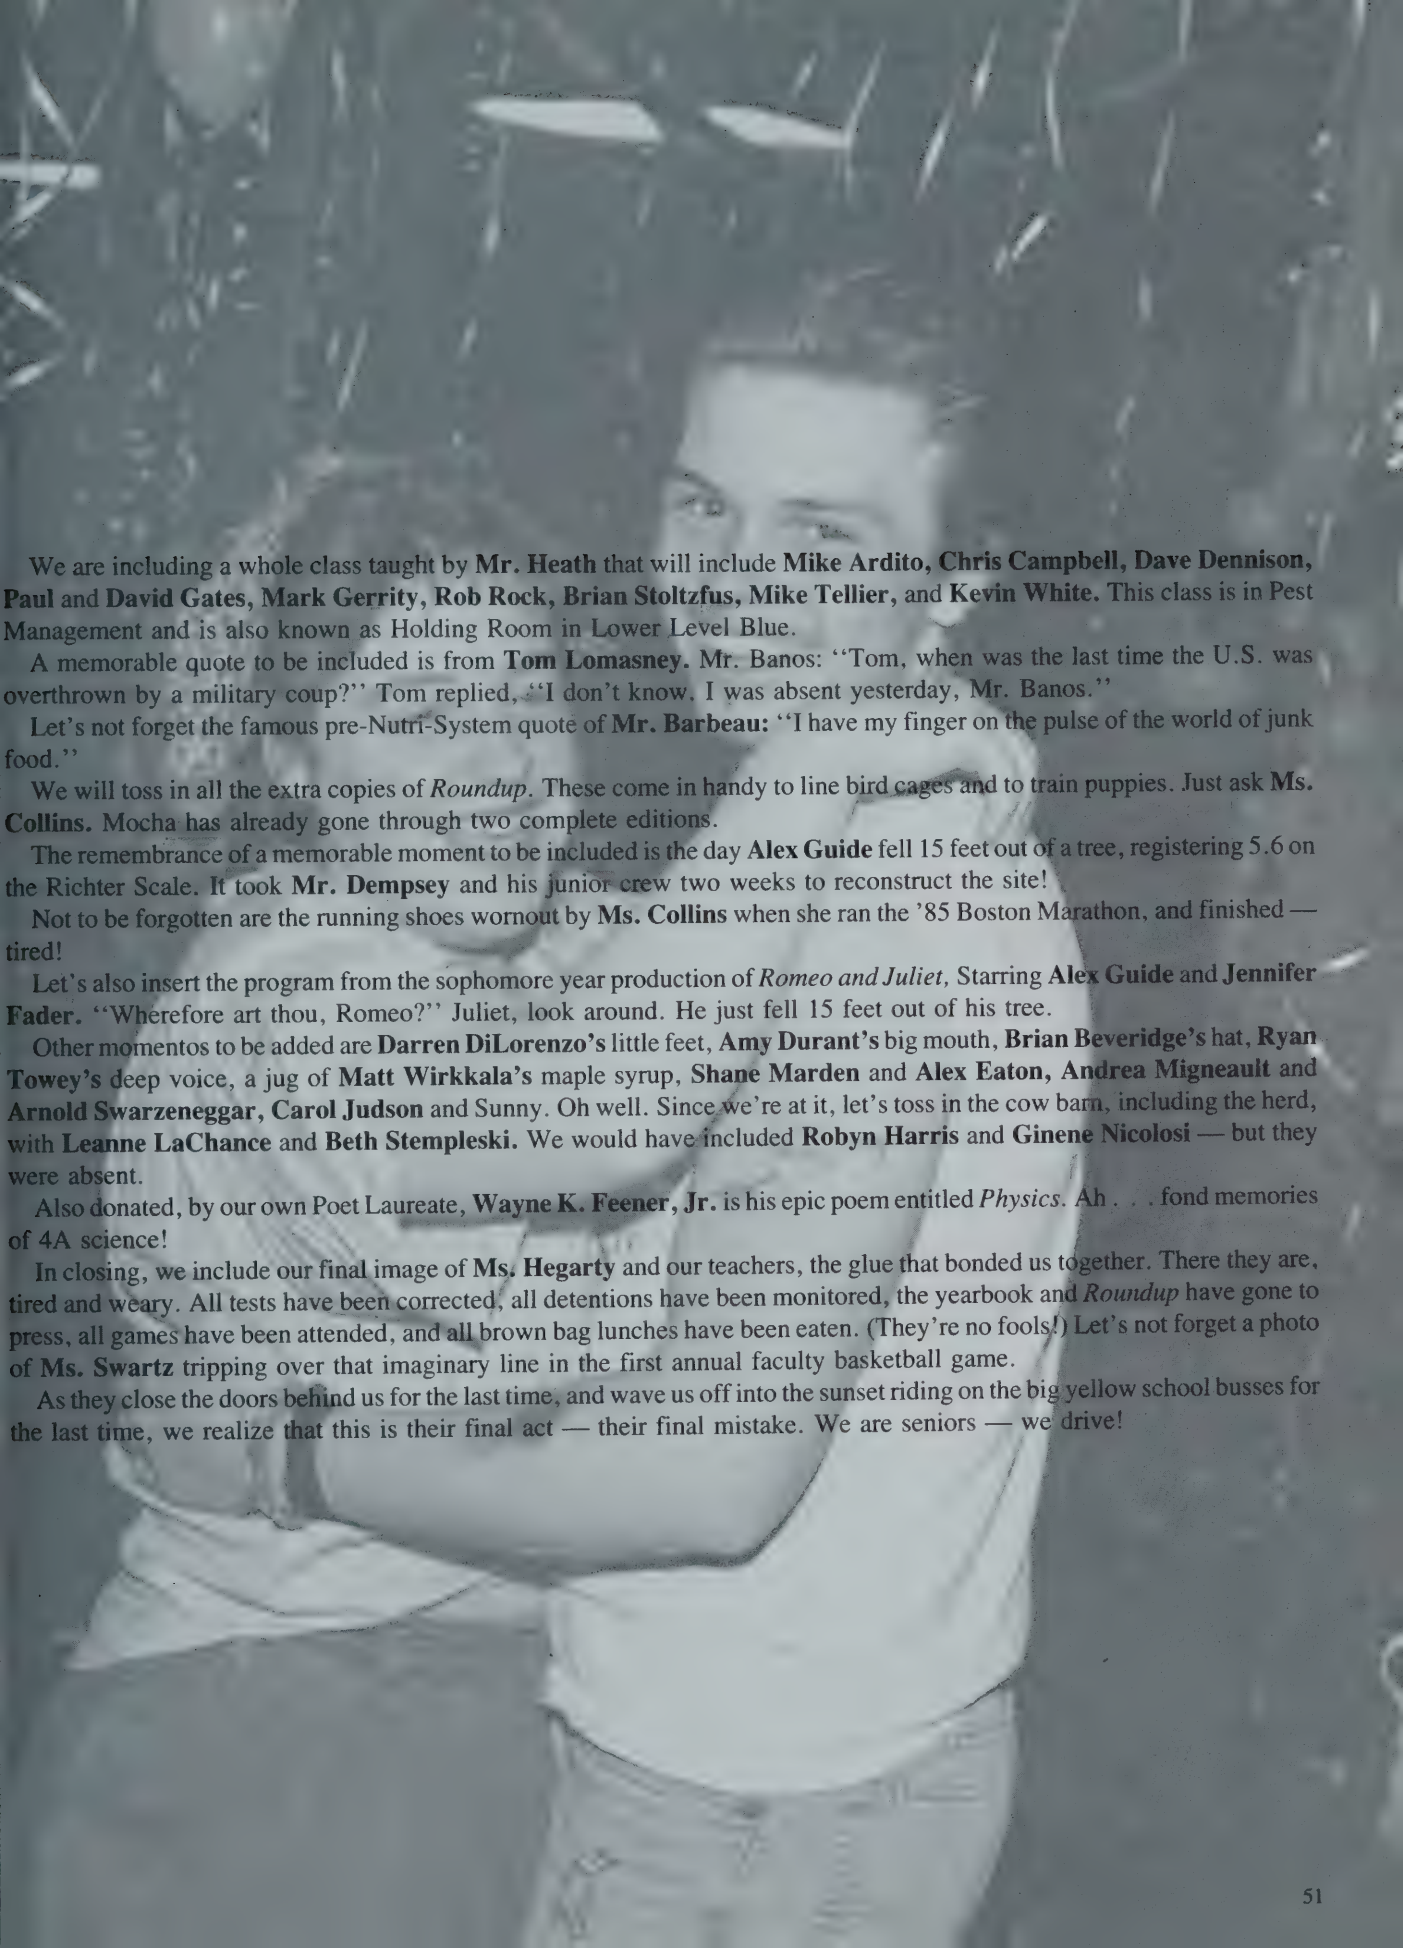
Included in the capsule will be a 55-gallon drum of ozone-friendly Aqua Net, donated by Theresa Cox, Katie O'Brien, and Diane Sweeney. This will have been personally transported to the capsule by Justin Hooper in his Subaru. You know, this drum barely made it in tact! We will include a season pass to the nurse for Lori Haskell, a season pass to the girls' room for Tracy Thomas, and a lifetime pass to wander for Jen Ward. Let's not forget absent notes for Erin Burke, Leanne Malo, and Dawn Sylvester, written in eyeliner at the tanning salon; an N&J coffee cup from one of Bummer's lunch runs, a school lunch (best left buried for another hundred years), a strand of Mr. Barbeau's hair (we hated to take the last one, but . . .), and the basketball net. The team could never find it anyway!

No time capsule of the Class of '90 would be complete without Anthony Sacco's baby blue eyes, all the x-rays of Rich Clough's knee, a cup of coffee from Bel-Aire Diner donated by Lynn Kelley, Jim Grouleau's earth science book entitled Health, and all the points from the '89 soccer team. That last item won't take up much room. Let's also toss in the two points Matt Merritt scored for Bristol in the Christmas Tourney. But Mattie, you were on our side!

In keeping with the solid science foundation on which our school rests, some members of the class are making remarkable donations to benefit science. We will include the donor card made out by Jake Brown who is giving Cornell University his brain to see if medical experts will be able to find a cure for it. Trevor Venza is donating his whole body to Harvard to be used for spare parts. He figures that this is the only way he'll ever get there. Patty Casey, Vaun Dinger, Jason Sargent, and Kevin Smith are donating their voices. We'll finally hear them. Gena Tani is leaving her fouled-up check book to the entire MIT math department to see if they can figure it out.

Mark Malvitch is providing us with a recording of his other self, the Yankee Ripper. OK, Whip Head, let her rip! He is also including a picture of his imaginary friend Ewan Miller.

"Warning: The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is hazardous to your health!" Let's include the Surgeon General!



We are including a whole class taught by Mr. Heath that will include Mike Ardito, Chris Campbell, Dave Dennison, Paul and David Gates, Mark Gerrity, Rob Rock, Brian Stoltzfus, Mike Tellier, and Kevin White. This class is in Pest Management and is also known as Holding Room in Lower Level Blue.

A memorable quote to be included is from Tom Lomasney. Mr. Banos: "Tom, when was the last time the U.S. was overthrown by a military coup?" Tom replied, "I don't know. I was absent yesterday, Mr. Banos."

Let's not forget the famous pre-Nutri-System quote of Mr. Barbeau: "I have my finger on the pulse of the world of junk food."

We will toss in all the extra copies of Roundup. These come in handy to line bird cages and to train puppies. Just ask Ms. Collins. Mocha has already gone through two complete editions.

The remembrance of a memorable moment to be included is the day Alex Guide fell 15 feet out of a tree, registering 5.6 on the Richter Scale. It took Mr. Dempsey and his junior crew two weeks to reconstruct the site!

Not to be forgotten are the running shoes wornout by Ms. Collins when she ran the '85 Boston Marathon, and finished — tired!

Let's also insert the program from the sophomore year production of Romeo and Juliet, Starring Alex Guide and Jennifer Fader. "Wherefore art thou, Romeo?" Juliet, look around. He just fell 15 feet out of his tree.

Other momentos to be added are Darren DiLorenzo's little feet, Amy Durant's big mouth, Brian Beveridge's hat, Ryan Towey's deep voice, a jug of Matt Wirkkala's maple syrup, Shane Marden and Alex Eaton, Andrea Migneault and Arnold Swarzeneggar, Carol Judson and Sunny. Oh well. Since we're at it, let's toss in the cow barn, including the herd, with Leanne LaChance and Beth Stempleski. We would have included Robyn Harris and Ginene Nicolosi — but they were absent.

Also donated, by our own Poet Laureate, Wayne K. Feener, Jr. is his epic poem entitled Physics. Ah . . . fond memories of 4A science!

In closing, we include our final image of Ms. Hegarty and our teachers, the glue that bonded us together. There they are, tired and weary. All tests have been corrected, all detentions have been monitored, the yearbook and Roundup have gone to press, all games have been attended, and all brown bag lunches have been eaten. (They're no fools!) Let's not forget a photo of Ms. Swartz tripping over that imaginary line in the first annual faculty basketball game.

As they close the doors behind us for the last time, and wave us off into the sunset riding on the big yellow school busses for the last time, we realize that this is their final act — their final mistake. We are seniors — we drive!

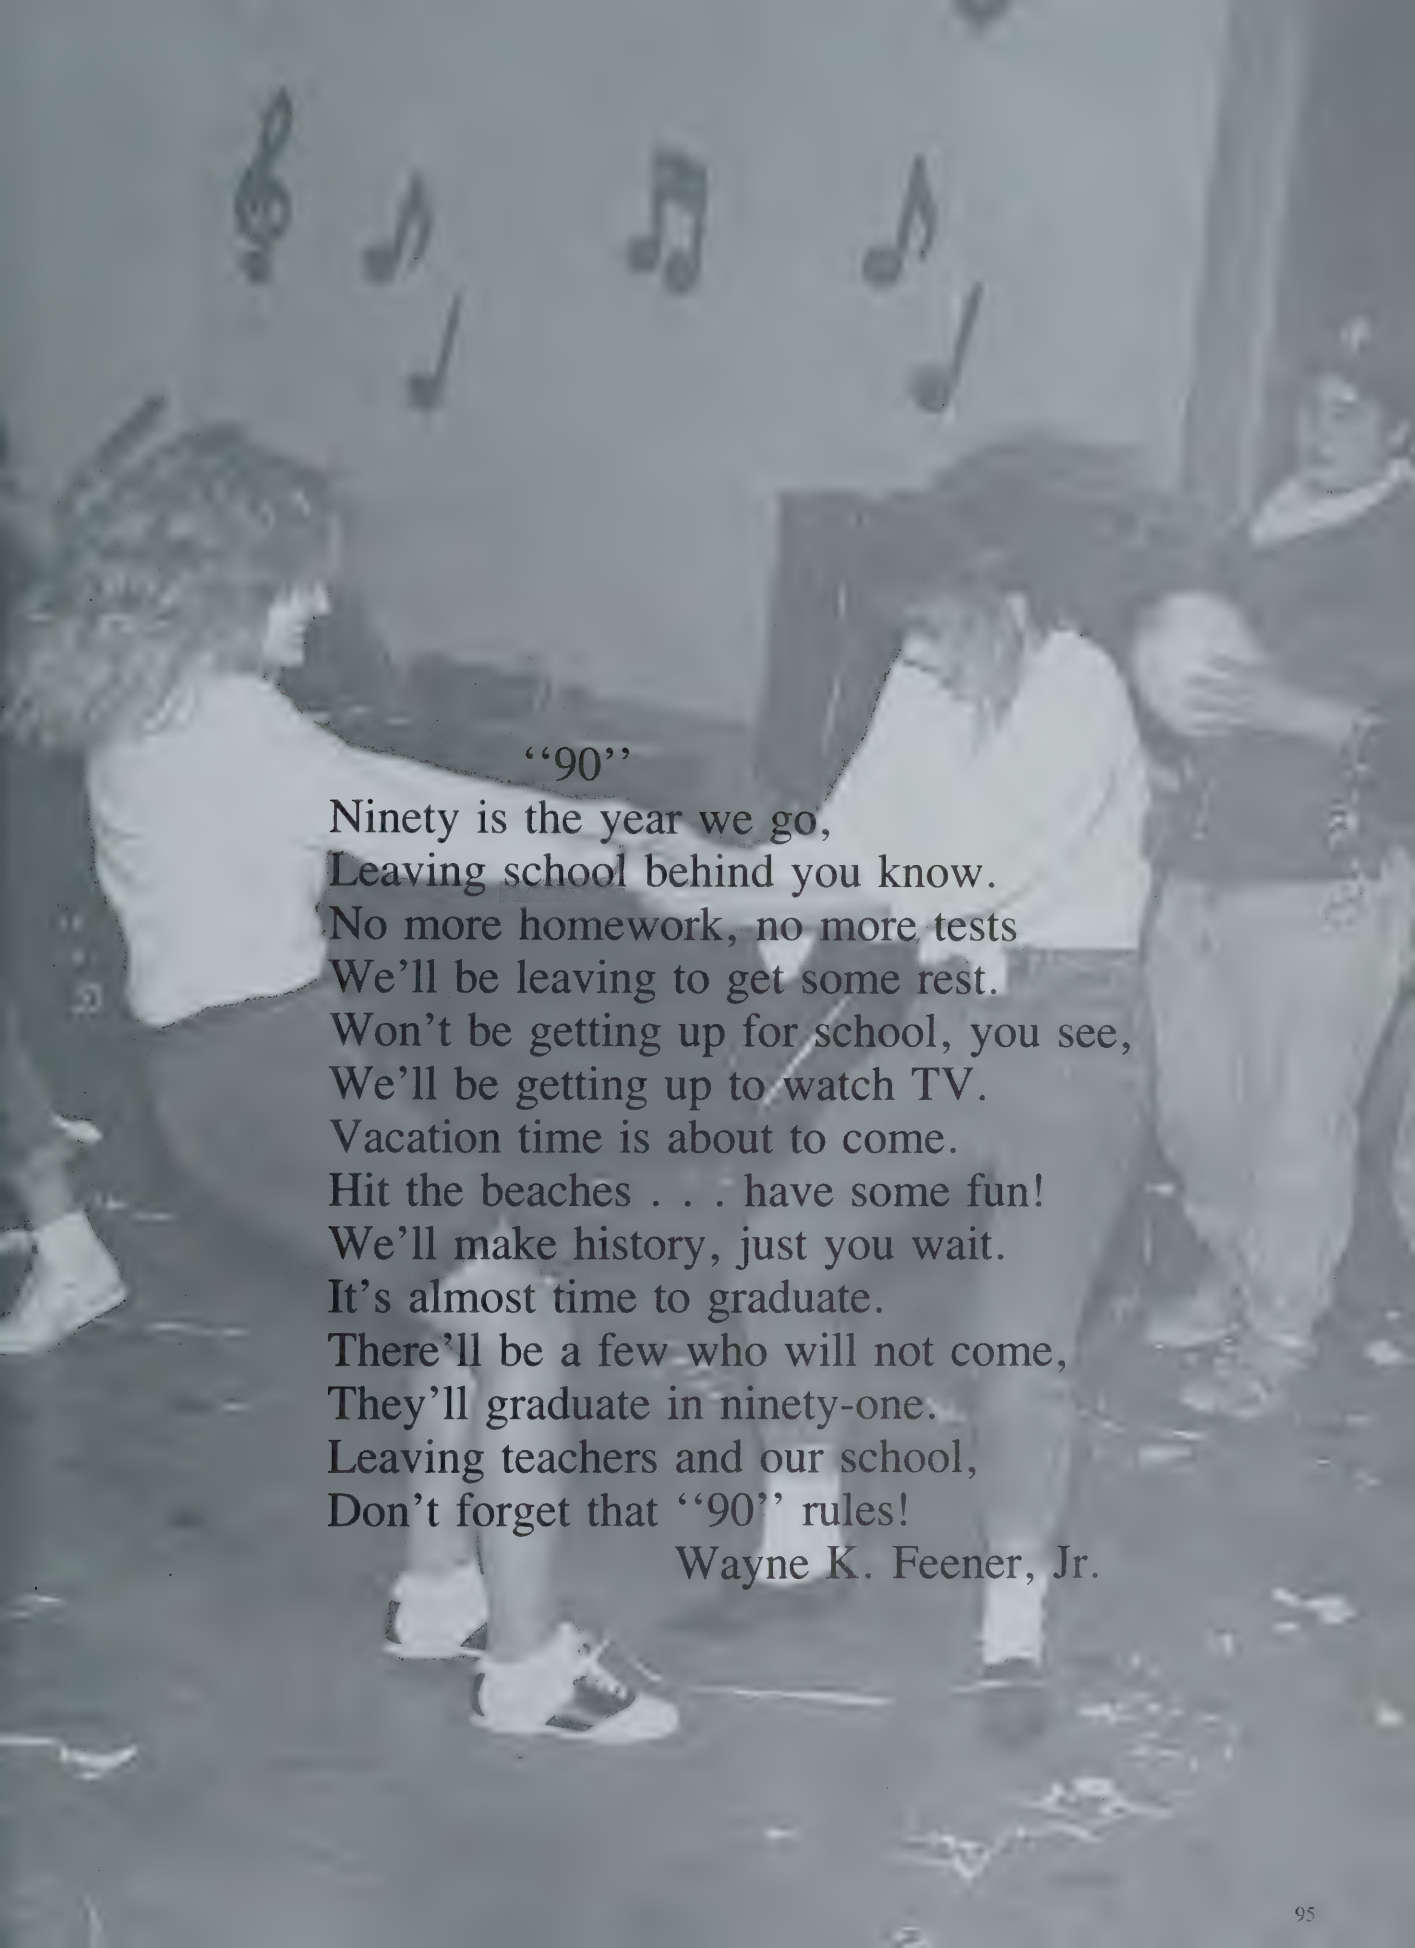
THE PROM



"90"

Ninety is the year we go,
Leaving school behind you know.
No more homework, no more tests
We'll be leaving to get some rest.
Won't be getting up for school, you see,
We'll be getting up to watch TV.
Vacation time is about to come.
Hit the beaches . . . have some fun!
We'll make history, just you wait.
It's almost time to graduate.
There'll be a few who will not come,
They'll graduate in ninety-one.
Leaving teachers and our school,
Don't forget that "90" rules!
